Well-informed sources reported the power shift after the disappearance of the Buddhist leader. Foreign Minister Vu Van Mau had shaved his head in the fashion of a priest and resigned his post in protest against the government's sharp crackdown on Buddhists.

His resignation forced cancellation of a scheduled meeting between the foreign minister and newly-arrived U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Lodge saw no Vietnamese officials today but he conferred with some refugee Buddhist priests and met with U.S. diplomatic and military officials here.

Who Runs Schools?

General federal aid to primary and secondary education seems an unlikely prospect for some time to come.

Congress will not consider it this year. Yet it is still high in the realm of public debate.

A principal argument against it, of course, is that such assistance inevitably means U.S. control of education.

With countless opponents this fear is obviously genuine, though others evidently use the argument to cloud other objections they have to the voice.

But the real problem is expressed in this kind of question:

"Do you want to turn control of your schools over to federal bureaucrats in Washington?"

There are perhaps few educators who do not share concern that the federal government might become too assertive, once established in the field.

Nevertheless there is an opposite side to this coin. It can be stated in the question:

"Do you want to see your getting

The query is pertinent because in recent years, in many places, a whole host of people of dubious qualification have attempted to dictate to school boards, administrators and teachers what should and should not be taught in our schools.

A university like Stanford can, as it recently did, refuse such "guidance" in the form of strings attached to money gifts. Public schools, dependent on public funds, are unhappily less able to resist often serious pressures from militant outsiders.

The question any community should ask with regard to such complainants is this: "What are their true credentials? What do they know of the subjects they want taught in their particular way? Is there any support in the objective evidence for such teachings?"

The classroom is not the courtroom. There are no strict rules of evidence. But a school, if it is to lay any claim to the name at all, must offer its students much solid, verifiable fact as can be brought to bear on any topic under study.

It also must be a place given over to the free interplay of ideas and opinions. It ceases to be a school when outsiders can intervene to limit it to only those ideas and opinions they approve. The natural response then must be:

“Who are they to say?”
Many are ignorant amateurs who want to repeal a history they do not like and to warp the present to their own unsupportable views. Their assault on the schools already has gone a long way.
Every community in the nation should be making sure that knowledgeable, balanced, fair-minded persons decide who is to be taught in its schools. And

It has never been established that B. (Happy) Chandler made any notable contributions to statecraft in his terms as governor of Kentucky. But was always fun to have around.
So it is with a bit of sadness that we read that he has been defeated soundly in a Democratic primary bid for a third term.

Of course Chandler violated his rule in trying this year. His success bids were in 1935 and 1955. To keep them, he should have waited until 1975. But Happy is getting on in years, so would be a pretty long shot.

We'll just have to live with the memory of that smiling face and hope somebody else can offer at least one of the good cheer Chandler brought to American political scene.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 Congress has its hand in the consumer's pocket again. Pressured by the so-called "fast-track" lobbyists, it is quite likely to pass a law eliminating price competition in the sale of branded or trademarked products.

This legislative monster is euphemistically tagged the "quality stabilization" bill, and it has already been steam-rollered through the house commerce committee by Chairman Celler. Great Britain's 1947 law, now in the senate commerce committee, where the anti-consumer lobbyists are breathing down the legislative neck.

FANCY NAME FOR PRICE-FIXING—These lobbyists assert that all they want to do is protect the patent that gives their products by the manufacturers to fix retail prices. This is shameless and arrogant belabor. What they really want to do is force the buying public to pay for the products at a higher price.

Today, the consumer can shop around for the best buy in, say, his favorite brand of aspirin tablets. Under the proposed law, he would pay the same high price for the same matter. The lobbyists might try to "protect" the brand names from being "degraded" by a low price tag.

The "family car" is going up such that legislators would protect the "family car" by the neighborhood store stay in business in competition with merchandise operating on the principle of smaller profit margin but a higher volume of

NO FAILURE INSURANCE—This argument is as,phony as a three-dollar bill. Chairman Emanuel Celler, D. N. Y., of the Senate Judiciary committee, has dug up the facts and has reported that the "no failure" states have failed to pass the so-called "failure trade" statutes generally has been higher than in states where there are no such statutes.

Moreover, these "failure trade" laws just haven't worked. Over the past 30 years they have been adopted by 45 states, and they have proved so impractical that most of the states have repealed them, or their courts have found them unconstitutional.

A political cartoon by J. J. Murphy. A man stands on a high ledge, shouting "NAME & NUMBER." Below him, a large, snarling dog with "KELIA INTOL" on its side lunges forward. In the foreground, a man lies on the ground, holding a newspaper that reads "NAME". The cartoon is signed "J. J. MURPHY" and dated "1963" in the bottom left corner.

SHOULD LODGE HAVE ACCEPTED?

Announcement of the appointment of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. 1960 Republican candidate for Vice President, is ambassador to South Vietnam is officially described as a bipartisan approach to foreign policy. Whether such an approach is well advised, or whether it weakens the two-party political system in the United States is, however, an interesting subject for consideration.

There are a number of Republicans in high places in the Kennedy administration. Christian Herter, the former secretary of state under President Eisenhower, is in the Kennedy cabinet. The new U.S. ambassador to the former Republic of China is, Mr. Kennedy's secretary of defense, Robert McNamara, a professional politician, and the new ambassador to the treasury, Robert McNamara, a professional politician.

The reason given for appointments of the sort is that the president wants the best man for the job, no matter what his politics. This is a laudable objective, but possibly it also represents a what might be termed as a two-edged sword. Mr. Kennedy is so insistent on getting the best man, what is the matter with the Democratic party that it does not produce them?

In looking ahead to the 1964 presidential election, it is hardly conceivable that Mr. Lodge will be in a position to campaign for the Republican ticket as he did in 1960. Mr. Herter is a lame duck and it is unlikely that he will be able to find it necessary to remain active and like his ever influence Secretaries Dillon and McNamara might have will be neutralized by their office positions.

There is, of course, no doubt that administration is a pleasant

The point is that the political opposition to the appointment of representatives of one major party to important posts in the political administration tends to mix up the philosophical or the general question of what can be done to prevent the kind of thing that happened in the case of Mr. Lodge. It is reasonable to suppose that he could have turned down the appointment on the basis of his own record. It is also likely that Mr. Lodge should have been elected in 1960 or 1964 if he doesn't subscribe to the kind of political administration which has been shown to be so much less successful than the kind of political administration which has been shown to be so much more successful in the year from the time when he might be expected to advocate his defeat.

The political strength of the country depends on the political opposition at all times. Neither the administration in power nor its opponents it appoints contribute to that vitality by becoming political bedfellows — making

MIDSUMMER MADNESS

It is tragic and ironic that in the summer when driving conditions are fine, traffic deaths and injuries soar. This proves that the responsibility for our appalling national highway slaughter lies on the drivers. Neither the weather nor mechanical failures can be blamed for the vast majority of our automobile deaths and maimings.

The same man who sits in church and bodes his head in solemn approbation, as the minister preaches him to love his neighbor, will leap into his car, and take off with wild screaming of tires and an utter disregard for the rights of others.

The loving father will kiss his children good night in the morning as he leaves for work and will stroll down residential streets at twilight, the joyous father of a family of four, and will be the father of other parents' children, equally beloved, and just as frequently it is a loving mother who will kiss her children good night and will be the mother of other parents' children, equally loved.

The police man who opens a door and a door leads to let others enter his life is transformed into a selfish maniac as soon as he selfishly behinds his door and will be the enemy of the people he helps, or crosses an intersection ahead of him, courtesy he practices when on foot; dispassionately he will be the enemy of the people he helps.

It is man's ego coupled with the need to prove that he is the super master of a mechanical contrivance. Avarice and lack of consideration for others is the cause of the world's ills, which can lose you friends or cost you a handsome sum in business life. But at the steering wheel of a car, you are the master of your fate, and of the innocent people.

Most driving deaths can be prevented by the driver's common sense. Just remember: Your ego cannot drive.

Among other things, the lab will study various biological measures, such as insect birth control.

Scientists here don't have the program for testing the effectiveness of the chemical, but they would be appropriate if they invited Miss Carson to show them a new approach, or something like that.

In addition to this project, a research team headed by Dr. J. B. Bellville, Md., has started a search for new physical methods of controlling the development of the pest.

They are investigating the effects of light-rays, sound waves, and other physical forces on the life cycle of the pest, and also on terms as weapons against these pests. Apparently they have concluded that the fly attacks the host in a predictable manner.

No results from Bellville are expected until next year.

There is good news from the agriculture research service at Cornell University.

Scientists there have discovered that female houseflies apparently are attracted to perfumes of certain plants.

Proof of the role that scent plays in the life cycle of the fly was obtained with a device which was used to request the flies to come to a certain place.

As a fundamental reason for the lack of control of the pest, the research may be an oversimplification. Most of the President's recommendations for dealing with the pest are actually highly controversial.

From a Democratic administration point of view, the president's program recognizes that the pest is a major problem.

The scientist, Mr. Bellville, said that the pest is a major problem in one chamber and then, put some females in another chamber and see if they will come to the same place.

Despite the absence of sight or smell to lure them, a significant number of the males wound up in the chamber with the females.

They found that, therefore, that the perfume got them.

According to the agriculture department, the pest is a major problem in the development of the pest.

The Doctor Says

BIG WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT,
M.D.

Q—What are the symptoms of lung cancer?

A—if you have lung cancer there will be at least one sign it will affect you. Many people think they can ignore the signs that hang on longer than most other cancers. In other words, if the first signs are coughing up a little blood or shortness of breath, it is explained, loss of weight may be due to the disease. Dr. Brandstad says that the cough or there may be a persistent pain in the chest.

Q—If I am having your doctor get an X-ray of your chest? This is the surest way to find out if the disease has progressed too far.

Q—My doctor has prescribed medicine for my lungs and sinusitis. Is he habit forming? What are the side effects?

A—The danger is in being on a drug that usually helps persons with lupus erythematosus. Chloroquine, which is used for habit forming, is well tolerated in the doses ordinarily prescribed. However, if you take you may have a mild headache, itching, blurred vision or nausea but none of these would be a reason for stopping the drug. These symptoms clear up when the dose is reduced and then later, after the dose is cleared down, your system will build up again. The dose and the dose can be increased without a return of the undesirable side effects.

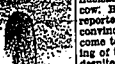

Q—Are X-ray affects due to radiation? Is it possible for a person to get cancer from X-rays from getting an x-ray treatment?

Dr. Q—The taking of calcium does tend to give the arteries hardening as the arteries harden. Calcium will harden your bones but not your arteries. Although the hardening of the arteries does involve some deposition of calcium in the arterial walls, the main offenders are fat, cholesterol in the recent reports the so-called saturated fats are especially liable to blame. Taking calcium tablets or as part of the diet has been completely contraindicated as a cause of arteriosclerosis.

Q—I am a housewife. My doctor says that my hemoglobin is low. Is that very dangerous? How low Should I restrict my activity until the hemoglobin is normal?

A—A woman's hemoglobin level should not be lower than 12 and preferably 16 or 18 grams (14-16 grams for men). A low level indicates some form of anemia but, since there are many forms of anemia, your doctor will decide on treatment. I would say in general that since any form of anemia could lead to heart trouble, you should try to be as active as you can without becoming overly tired.

The general secretary of the U.N. general assembly, despite rumors to the contrary, if the Soviet premier were to join Khrushchev in the thousands of Cuban refugees would seize the opportunity to off America's shores. The demonstration would be a repetition of the chaos of the 1969 assembly session when battalions of New York police were called out to hold back the demonstrators. The appearance of Khrushchev would be the signal for other bands of government-ordered to congress by the the official Kremlin spokesman, he prepared to announce in a speech that since Castro's forces have been defeated, the United States has been forced to begin the process of training all the Cuban forces removed from the island. Chubchev would, in itself, stir up a wave of intense emotional and political feeling in the country over the presence of a communist-dominated dictatorship in the Americas.

This would cast a long shadow of doubt over whether there is any real desire for an easing of tensions. Khrushchev might figure that the announcement of Castro's removal would take out one of the most troubling speculations about the future of Cuba, the so-called Castro dilemma, the specter of a communist Cuba.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, Aug. 23—Born today, you have an innate restlessness.

Let's let unchecked, could very easily dominate your natural powers and latent talents to such a degree that neither would you really see the light of day, nor the wisest thing you could do would be to set yourself a schedule of accomplishment and stick to it. You may not be at your happiest within the confines of a schedule, but you will certainly work it.

You are not by nature a diplomat. In fact, you are apt to be almost about stating your views, particularly if they do not fall in with another's or the mass mind. Argument stimulates you to a display of wit that, though acute, is generally so appreciated by your adversaries that they don't mind losing—and lose they usually do.

One who could easily mistake infatuation for love, you must be especially cautious in affairs of the heart. You would do better to wait for marriage until your character and your career are both settled rather than to leap into it young, and totally unprepared for the problems it poses.

Among those born on this date are: Edgar Lee Masters, author; Louis XVI of France; Bob Crane, entertainer, businessman, to find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—A suit charging Ralph Fraser of the Treasure Valley Broadcasting company, operator of radio station KATN in Boise, with unauthorized use of a radio audience is on file in third district court here. The action was brought by Talco, Inc. of New York City. It said the station made use of a "pull-out" listener survey without contracting for the service. The suit asks the court to order Fraser not to use any reference to the survey in selling advertising time on his station.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—An apparent low bid of $22,000 for installation of fire escapes and construction of additional bathing facilities at State hospital north, Orofino, has been submitted by Richman Construction company. Boise submitted an apparent low bid of $27,744 for construction of a storage building at the Maybury fish hatchery, near Clannette.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—Formation of a special committee to undertake a thorough study of public education in the Gem state has been suggested by the Idaho Education association. IEA Executive Secretary, Elmer C. Crutcher, pointed to the failure of local school district voters to approve increased mill levies and to an "escape" of teachers in asking Gov. Robert E. Smyth to order the study. He also listed low teacher salaries, the hiring of uncertified teachers and the reduction in equalization of education costs as problems requiring immediate attention.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—Bannock county today reversed its position in Idaho's transportation case and joined Ada county in contending that the present apportionment denies voters equal representation in the state legislature. Both counties were named as defendants in the suit, filed by Stanley Whitman, Boise, and Walter J. Heame, Pocatello. Bannock County Attorney Hugh Maguire filed Thursday in U. S. district court here an amended answer to a supplemental complaint filed by State Rep. Herman J. McDevitt, Pocatello, who brought the suit on behalf of Whitman and Heame.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—The Washington Water Power company has been granted permission by the Idaho public utilities commission to issue $400,000 of 5% bonds. The utility said proceeds from the sale will not exceed $200,000 and will be used to meet current construction requirements. The authorization reflects sale of the stock to the firm's employees under its stock purchase plan.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—The state reclamation engineer's office has scheduled a hearing here next Tuesday on a proposed U. S. Bureau reclamation project in southeastern Idaho which includes a storage dam on the Bear river. KEELOGG, Aug. 23 (U)—The appointment of Robert L. Haffner, Galena, Ill., as manager of mines for the Bunker Hill company was announced Thursday by John M. Haines, general manager. Haffner served as operating manager of the Illinois-Wisconsin division of the Erie-Picher company before accepting the Bunker Hill position.

BOISE, Aug. 23 (U)—New jobs in government and in the lumber industry boosted Idaho's employment in July but a gain in the labor force left unemployment at the same level as that a year earlier. The Idaho employment security agency, in its monthly report, said today that total employment during July was 264,000 compared with 264,000 a month earlier and with 264,000 in July 1962.

Reduction in Deficit Made In Michigan

LANSING, Mich., Aug. 23 (U)—Michigan, the state whose name has been synonymous in recent years with financial chaos in government, has managed a hard-to-believe 73 per cent reduction in its whopping deficit in a single year.

This conservatively could give Republican Gov. George Romney, who talked fiscal integrity in his campaign last year, a boost if he decides to run for reelection in 1964.

At the same time, it throws a shadow of uncertainty over the governor's next project—overhaul and reform of the state's tax structure.

Controller Glenn Allen, Jr., released nearly-final figures showing Michigan's general fund deficit, which stood at $45 million dollars in June 50, had been cut to 23 million dollars as of June 30 this year.

Allen predicts, if the economy continues to boom, the red ink can be cut to five million dollars a year hence.

"The way this will require another banner year for the auto industry."

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, Aug. 24 — Born today, you are destined to be an iconoclast in that you do not hesitate to throw off old notions, old ways. You are not, however, one who discards the old before having discovered something of value to put in its stead; indeed, it is only in making room for that something of value that you discard the old. You are not, in other words, an "image-breaker" merely for the sake of breaking unusual.

Because you are careful to choose your friends from among "matters of substance," these friends coincide with yours, you should never lack for stimulating conversation. It is two-way street, however, and as you are interested by others, so you are of interest to them. In fact, your keen and critical mind makes you one of the most sought-after members of your society.

You have strong likes and dislikes where people are concerned, and are highly intuitive in the matter of who is to be trusted and who not. You are not openly emotional, but you feel things deeply nonetheless, and in your own quiet, reserved way are truly and lastingly affectionate.

Among those born on this date are: Aubrey Beardsley, noted English illustrator; Max Beerbaum, English critic, author; Malcolm Cowley, historian, literary critic.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — A day of high personal appeal in which your contacts with many others should result in the forming of foundations necessary for real friendship.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — Avoid allowing an undercurrent of moody depression to erupt into violence. You can destroy much that you have worked to build.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — Live up to a good argument, then press your point. Conditions that need change should be seen to immediately.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20) — Leave materialism to others today. Seek to understand the spiritual side of your nature.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — A day for planning—but see to duties first, so that you can return to a well-appointed home for a thorough investigation.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Be far from you are from your present goal; may not be apparent. But you are probably closer than you think.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — Calm may well be shattered by incidental occurrences unless you hang onto your hat and avoid jumping to conclusions.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — Don't stand on ceremony if you see an opportunity to protect your own.

Project Helps Retarded Girls

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—A strong awareness of time passing in the home of nine teenage girls engaged in a unique experiment.

With their first earnings, they bought watches, symbols of personal responsibility.

It took time to leave the house for work on time. That is very important, one girl wrote.

Such an accomplishment may not seem remarkable for girls of 17 and 18. But, while these girls are mature physically, their mental growth has stopped at 10 and 11. They are officially certified as mental defectives and have been hospitalized in the average for three years.

They comprise the "second group" pilot project being conducted through the Syracuse state school for mental defectives.

Participants are chosen from the 276 female patients at the state school on the basis of age, intelligence—average IQ 69—and emotional stability.

Dr. Jacob Schneider, director of the state school, said the project's purpose is "to prove we can set such girls out of the rut of domestic work, which has been the traditional outlet for them."

If the project proves successful, he said, it may be expanded to other communities, and such homes may be opened for young men.

Of the first group of six women, aged 19 to 27, five have been discharged and one continues under school supervision while employed in a cafeteria in her home community.

Of the five who were discharged two work in a cafeteria at Syracuse university, two are employed in hospital work and one was a seamstress in a downtown department store until her recent marriage. All were placed in the job through the school.

Of the girls now at the home, five are unemployed, one is a stock clerk, two are employed in a hospital, one works in a laundry and four work in a private workshop for the handicapped.

The girls have a strong desire to succeed in "the accepted" and to be like everyone else," Schneider said.

Since the school year ended, the girls have worked full-time. Before that, they spent half of the work day on the job and the other half at the home.

There they received instruction in the basic subjects and in activities needed on the job and in day-to-day living, such as making change, reading bus schedules, paying income taxes, banking and budgeting.

Data Given On School Hot Lunches

Hot lunches will be served to school students Sept. 4 and 5, and will continue as usual Sept. 9, according to Mrs. R. V. Glick, hot lunch supervisor.

Mrs. Glick says that only two lunches will be served in the Twin Falls school lunchrooms and will cost only 25 cents for one-third to one-half of the daily nutritional needs.

"The lunches will be centered around at least a two-ounce serving of cooked or canned lean meat, poultry, fish, cheese or other protein-rich food such as eggs, peanut butter and dry beans."

Also included in the lunch is a vitamin C food and a vitamin A food twice a week, at least one slice of bread or one serving of hot bread made of enriched or whole-grain cereal, at least two tablespoons of butter and one-half pint of whole milk.

The lunches are designed by the U.S. department of agriculture with the help of school nutritionists throughout the country.

"Our first concern is our children. Our first concern is our children," said Mrs. Glick. "We put much thought, time and energy into these menus. We know they are getting what they need if they eat what is served them."

Also to be dedicated at the Wales chapel is an organ that was donated by Bank Lake City businessmen.

President McKay was met at Idlewild airport Thursday night by 30 church members from the New York area who greeted him with the hymn "We Thank Thee O God For a Prophet."

Christian Scholars Think Atheists Helpful to Cause

By GEORGE W. CORNELL, Associated Press Religion Writer

Thanks be to God, the Christian scholar said, for the atheists, who, he said, are the most helpful to the cause of religion.

It may sound strange for the world's two most noted diabolists to be cited as sources of value to religion.

Yet among many theologians and philosophers, the thesis often is expressed.

They maintain that Marx, founder of communism, and Freud, founder of psychoanalysis, have contributed stimuli and insights to Jesus-Christians that were neglected.

A long-standing church concept holds that God frequently may work through unreligious forces and individuals to correct, lead and strengthen the church.

It was at the American World Congress in Toronto, Canada, this month that a British churchman, Canon Max Warren, stated that divine guidance may come from that Freud's approach of accepting, rather than condemning, the guilt-ridden was the very heart of Christ's gospel of forgiveness—the acceptance of the unacceptable.

Along Fences and Canals

North Shoshone area is down around 30 per cent. Most fields have yielded between 20 and 35 bushels. The best crops of new yield is thought to be from the south end of the area. The weather was dry, there was some damage from mice and wind also. Mixed grain crops are the other half. Some farmers reporting as much as 10 bushels per acre. The harvest in the area is approximately 50 per cent complete.

The Exhibitions have moved 21 Hereford calves from summer pasture in Hagaman to their ranch southeast of Tuttle.

Many mice and grasshoppers are doing some damage to bean fields in the Tuttle area. The beans are beginning to ripen and cutting will begin next week, farmers report.

Don Vonta, Albion rancher, trucked his cattle home from the Harrison Taylor grazing tract where he had pastured them during the summer. They were trucked to his home from the same area earlier. Floyd Knight expects to bring his cattle in soon from the Rogers area.

Wayne Baldwin and Don Baldwin have just completed threshing 100 acres of mixed grain of wheat, oats and barley on their ranch at the foot of the Curry Hill. They threshed 100 bushels to the acre. They are now springing the new crop of alfalfa planted with the grain in this spring.

They report an indicated heavy yield of potatoes planted on the 10 acres of newly broken sage brush land across highway 24 to the north of their main ranch. These potatoes have been irrigated by a newly installed high-line ditch with water from Silver creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Osborn and family have moved from the George Byard farm to the Evan Guthrie farm in north Shoshone.

Bradley Young, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Laidlaw, Muldoon, is spending a week on the Laidlaw stock ranch there. He will return next week to the merchant marine military academy in New York, where he is in training.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Andrus, Jerome, have purchased the Martin Ridge ranch, east of Hagaman. The family has moved to Coalinga.

Gem Range Feed Condition Is Better Than Average

BOISE, Aug. 23.—Range feed conditions remained above average for Aug. 1 despite subnormal July precipitation according to the crop reporting service. Stock water supplies remain adequate in most areas.

Full grazing prospects are better than usual. The reported condition of 87 is six points above July 1, but eight points above the 1950-51 average for Aug. 1.

The condition of cattle at 88 is one point below a month ago, but still four points above the five-year average. Gains on spring and early summer ranges have generally been good with calves reportedly in good condition. Marketings have started in earlier areas.

The condition of sheep at 88 shows a usual one point decline since July 1, but is still three points above the average for this date. Marketing of lambs is moving rapidly in Idaho and the reported percentage marketed to date is well above that for the last five years.

Condition of range feed nationally declined more than seasonally during July because of high temperatures and lack of rainfall throughout the entire western range area with the exception of the northwest and California. July weather was hot and dry over the central and southern plains and a southwest wind with only scattered precipitation received in most areas.

"Continued drought conditions in the central and southern plains and the southwest caused serious deterioration and shortage of range feed."

Grazing feed is short in Arizona and the southern half of Utah and Nevada. Grazing conditions are good along the Pacific coast and cool temperatures during July has been beneficial to range grass in California, Oregon and Washington. Fall and winter grazing feed prospects are dependent upon August moisture throughout the western range area except for the Pacific coast states and some other higher elevation areas, supplies of hay and other roughages for winter feeding are expected to be adequate although local shortages are possible with stocks being below a year ago.

Western range cattle were being marketed in generally good condition despite the decline in the range feed condition. Weight gains have not been as good as in some recent years, particularly in the plains states, but shrinkage is expected to be at a minimum. High elevation sheep ranges have provided good summer grazing. Sheep and lambs have made generally good gains except for some areas in the southwest where grasses matured early due to the hot, dry conditions. Lambs are generally expected to come off grass at good weights.

CHOP IS LARGER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The first official estimate of the size of the 1953 cotton crop indicates little will be done this year about reducing the Aug. 1 carryover of 11.1 million bales. The estimate indicates a cotton crop of 13,844,400 bales would be harvested.

T. F. Agent

Forecasts

Top Exhibits

Olan Genn, Twin Falls county agent, said today he expects the exhibits at the forthcoming Twin Falls county fair to exceed previous years, both in quality and quantity.

Genn based his comment on the results of the recent 4-H Achievement days held in the county.

"The livestock exhibits should be of the best," he said.

He also noted the home economics division should be better because of additional training given the girls in style revue and other related subjects.

If the work displayed at the Achievement days is any indication of the type of work that will be offered for fair competition, Twin Falls county residents could be viewing one of the top fairs ever held here.

Genn noted that adult response is one of the main reasons for improving the quality and quantity of the exhibits. Their help has been excellent and the fair results will prove what good adult interest can accomplish, he said.

T. F. County Agent Recalls Pesticide History, Use

Because of the recent incident in Topsham, Wash., where two head of cattle died and several persons became ill when a spray was caught in a weather situation, Twin Falls County Agent Don Youis recalled the act where pesticides residues were established and the reasons behind the tolerance.

Youis referred to a University of Idaho bulletin, "Recommendations for Insect Control."

In 1960 the cattle incident became part of the federal pure food, drug and cosmetics act.

In some recent years, particularly in the plains states, but shrinkage is expected to be at a minimum.

High elevation sheep ranges have provided good summer grazing. Sheep and lambs have made generally good gains except for some areas in the southwest where grasses matured early due to the hot, dry conditions.

Lambs are generally expected to come off grass at good weights.

Later amendments have brought the use of all other cultural chemicals except fertilizer under the above regulations.

Residue tolerances have been established for most of the pesticides and only those having established tolerances or those that are exempt from a tolerance should be used by growers.

Youis stressed the need for following label recommendations to the letter.

"If in doubt, the county agent's office will gladly assist where pesticides and chemicals are in use," said Youis.

Youis noted that there are other factors involved in spraying, either aerial or ground.

"Weather is always a factor in any spraying operation," said the county agent.

"It is important that users of pesticides follow carefully the recommendations given on the label and in official publications as to dosage, timing, number of applications—and the crops on which the material can be applied.

"Growers who follow the approved directions for application and good agricultural practices should not under normal conditions have a problem with pesticide residues."

Use pesticides only as directed, on crops specified, in the amounts specified, and at the times specified. Insects, as possible, control insects, pests and diseases early in the season, and never use a pesticide or other questionable material late in the season.

Getting Cold?

Notice if you're getting a little chilly morning. The weather bureau in the person of C. B. Nelson, senior meteorologist at the Kimberly-Twin Falls office, says you should (if you are a better person) be in just when the temperatures are likely to get cold enough to cause freezing. The forecast for the day is that, while the temperature will not be below the freezing point, it will be in the 20's or 30's. The forecast for the day is that, while the temperature will not be below the freezing point, it will be in the 20's or 30's.

For instance, there is a 10 per cent chance of Twin Falls having a temperature that low or lower before Sept. 11. Jerome has an eight per cent chance of reaching that low before Sept. 11. In other places prior to Sept. 11, there is a 14 per cent chance in Oakley, a seven per cent chance in Burley and an 11 per cent chance in Pocatello. At Hill City, there is a 50 per cent chance that it will freeze before that date while the percentage of chance at Shoshone is 14 per cent.

By Oct. 5, there is a 50 per cent chance that Twin Falls will have had a freeze while the percentage of chance for Jerome is 37, for Burley, 35, for Pocatello, 33, for Shoshone, 31, and for Hill City, 29. By mid-October, the percentage of chance of freezing temperatures (32 degrees or lower) will be 61 per cent in Twin Falls, 57 per cent in Jerome, 54 per cent in Burley, 51 per cent in Pocatello, 48 per cent in Shoshone, and 45 per cent in Hill City. By the end of October, if all communities have not yet had temperatures below 32 degrees, then there is something wrong.

BOISE, Aug. 23—The total production of milk in Idaho is estimated at 14 million pounds for June, 1963. This compares with 138 million pounds for June, 1962 and 136 million pounds for the 1957-61 average.

LIKE A HUGE snake, the new water distribution pipeline winds its way along the bottom of Cedar Mesa canyon. The new pipeline will replace the old flume which has been in use since the project began. The pipeline will work like an inverted siphon to take the water out of the canyon and distribute into the canal serving farmers on the Reservoir tract. pipeline and four cleanouts. It is 1,700 feet between manholes. Walker noted a 54-inch pipe isn't any too large to move around in, but it will be possible to make repairs if needed from inside the pipe.

The shutoff date for irrigation tentatively is scheduled for Sept. 20. After the water is turned out, work can begin on the structures on either end of the pipeline to complete the project.

The pipeline will run a similar course to the old flume except it will depend on the principle of an inverted siphon to lift the water to the canyon's edge, rather than gravity flow.

This should be the last season water will flow down the old flume.

EXAMINING TRIANGLE and "cheapest section" Jack Walker, soil conservation service engineer. Manholes are placed every 1,700 feet along the new pipeline being constructed in the Cedar Mesa canyon. The new structure will replace the old wood, Lenson-type flume which currently carries irrigation water to Reservoir tract farmers. (Times-News photo.)

Growers Are Reminded to Under Plan

DALEY, Aug. 23—Jack Walker, all-chairman of Idaho county natural stabilization and reclamation committee, reminds wheat growers that time has for winter wheat growers to consider how their plantings may affect their siphon in the 1964 feed program.

Walker added that many wheat growers in the county are also grain producers and as a result are likely to participate in the 1964 feed grain program during feed grain out of winter wheat.

Walker noted the drop in 1964 prices as reflected by the wheat futures market recently, the judgment of the fact is a July, 1964, Kansas wheat futures price of $1.40 a bushel. This price, related to a farm level, reflects that price of about $1.25 a bushel.

Chairman Alfred pointed out that the 1964 feed grain program has been designed to reduce payments of credit on grain sales. The program provides effective guide for farmers to use in keeping their overall average in 1964 reasonably close to expected needs.

Walker urged all farmers in the county who intend to seed this fall and who also intend to feed grain to look into possibilities of participation in the 1964 feed grain program as they complete their seed plans.

Walker noted that the feed grain program will not be until early next year. Farmers who plan to seed this fall and who also intend to feed grain to look into possibilities of participation in the 1964 feed grain program as they complete their seed plans.

APPLY NITROGEN NOW

for extra profit*

Fall-applied USS Nitrogen plowed down with crop residues can increase your profits! Nitrogen speeds the decomposition of grain stubble, corn stalks, potato vines and other crop residues. Nitrogen helps transform residues into soil-building organic material by spring. The result: Greater soil productivity and higher profits for you.

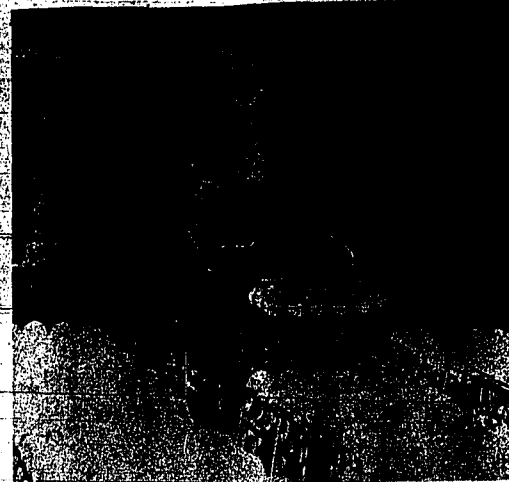

How much nitrogen? Research shows that about 20 pounds of available nitrogen is needed to decay one ton of residue. Therefore, 60 pounds of nitrogen is required to handle the straw produced from a 60-bushel small grain crop. For best results, apply the recommended amount of nitrogen for the crop to be grown, plus the additional amount required to decay the residue to be plowed into the soil.

Apply nitrogen this fall — avoid the spring rush. Insist on USS Nitrogen Fertilizer, made by United States Steel. Order USS Anhydrous Ammonia, USS Ammonium Nitrate, or USS Ammonium Sulfate from your dealer now.

Many Disguises Used by Canada Store Employee

TORONTO, Aug. 22 (AP) — Mary Jane Holmes is a private investigator but you'd never guess it from a look at her working clothes.

And unlike the legendary Holmes of another era, she does not carry a magnifying glass.

The attractive blue-eyed brunette in chief security officer for a 12-store Toronto discount chain. Since it's essential that she not be easily recognized as an investigator when trying to nab shoplifters, Miss Holmes is likely to wear a variety of hats and a house-while-on-the-job. And so make the disguise even more convincing, she sometimes goes to work with curlers in her hair.

The casual outfits are in keeping with the "running shoes" she wears.

"When I stop a shopper out the store and he takes off across the parking lot, I need traction," she says, explaining the footwear.

The "running shoes" she uses them to keep an eye on suspected shoplifters without raising their suspicion.

During 12 years of investigation work, Miss Holmes has taken on many roles, watches and rings out of dirty diapers and has retrieved nylon, alps, bacon and onions from beneath cooling grates.

"For Heaven's sake, how did that get in there?" is the usual refrain from women caught in the act, Miss Holmes says, they inevitably insist it's the first time but it seldom is.

Most adult shoplifters are women, she says, but men take more expensive items. And estimates are that 60 per cent of shoplifting is done by teen-agers, often for kicks.

Cucumbers and shrimp? Yes, thanks to Mrs. B. B. we have a grand new dish. She writes: "I just happened on this wonderful refreshing hot seafood appetizer. I thought you readers might enjoy it, too."

Peel and slice small cucumbers. Wash. Place in colander with weight on top to press out liquid. When ready to use, rinse cucumbers to get rid of some of the salt. Place in a large chilled bowl. Add chopped top onions and parsley and lots of freshly ground black pepper. Make a dressing of diluted white vinegar and a little sugar. Pour over the cucumbers. Serve in small glass bowls and pass tiny canned shrimp from Denmark. The little pink shrimp on top of the cucumbers make a delicate cooling treat.

She writes that she serves this appetizer on her coffee table before dinner, placing the cucum-

Indians Turn On Power to Rip Yanks 7-4

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP) — With quiet rest on the field after Wednesday night's pre-game rain, the Cleveland Indians smashed three homers, two triples and two doubles Thursday to win the first place New York Yankees 7-4 and gain a split of their four-game series.

All of the Yankee runs came in the sixth inning on a grand slam home run by John Blanchard off Jim Grant. However, by that time the Indians had piled up a 6-0 lead off Ralph Terry, who thwarted a Yankee threat in the eighth that left two on.

The Yankees and Red White fielded off on Terry for home runs in the first inning. Willie Williams added another in the third immediately preceding a triple by Max Alvis and a single by Willie Williams.

Powell Bats Orioles Past Angeles 5-1

BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (AP) — Boos Powell continued his hot batting streak and rookie pitcher Dave McNally hurled his first complete game since April 20 as the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Los Angeles Angels 5-1 Thursday night.

Powell, who has hit 432 in the last 11 games, hit a two-run homer in the first inning after Los Angeles right fielder Ken Hunt dropped Russ Snyder's line drive for the first of five Los Angeles errors.

The Angels made two more errors, and losing pitcher Dean Chance made a hit throw to third base on a sacrifice bunt as Baltimore scored two runs in the fourth inning.

BURLEY, Aug. 23 (AP) — A golf exhibition and clinic, featuring the top women trick shot artist and two women professionals, will be conducted in Burley Tuesday.

In addition, a special golf film produced by the National Golf Foundation, will be shown free at 2 p.m. Monday at the Ponderosa. The film, featuring some of the sport's best known names, is based on golf fundamentals for the starter and the veteran, David said.

Under the new rule if a boxer is knocked out with less than 10 seconds to go in the round the referee's usual count of 10 to signal a knockout will not be stopped by the bell.

The general said the same procedure would be used for the mandatory eight-count if a boxer is felled with less than eight seconds to go, but after the third round of two or three. He said the time would extend into the normal rest period between rounds.

He added that in cases where a fighter is unable to get up when knocked down in the closing seconds, the referee must complete the 10 count for it to be a knockout. He said, however, he said it would be a TCO.

Idaho Letterman To Miss Season
 MOSCOW, Aug. 23 (AP) — A fractured leg which has failed to heal properly will keep two-year-old letterman and basketball player Darwin Deo, Pocatello, out of competition with the football team this year, according to head coach Dee Andros.

Deo got the fracture against Montana State college in Bozeman last fall and doctors said it would take two to three years where it can be treated in contact.

Wins Flight

Joe McCollum, Jr. overcame a poorly started, defeated young Chad Dodds 4 and 3 to win the Twin Falls city junior golf tournament's first prize. McCollum carved out a two-over par 36 on the front side for an early lead and his younger opponent couldn't overcome it. Don McMenitt won the championship last week-end.
